Performance Farm, located in Whitehouse Station, New Jersey and Jupiter, Florida, is owned and operated by Dr. Cesar Parra. With a fantastic team of riders and working students from all over the world, Dr. Parra has achieved great success since coming to the United States over ten years ago, including a trip to the Olympics, two World Equestrian Games and a World Cup Final. Most recently, Dr. Parra was the 2010 Collecting Gaits Farm/USEF National Intermediare I Champion. Dr. Parra spent much of the summer of 2011 in Germany competing and winning.

Performance Farm is a full-service training barn, with riders of all levels, from beginner through FEI, who share a desire to learn and improve. Dr. Parra has many horses available for sale at his facilities in the United States, also making frequent buying trips to Europe, and would love to help find you the perfect equine partner to achieve your dreams!
